OUR ENGLISH LETTER.

Recent Storms, Political and Otherwise—Lord Randolph Churchill.

Recent Events on the Turf—Foreign Politics in Relation to British.

From our own Correspondent.]

London, October 10.—The past week has been chiefly remarkable for storms. I don't mean political storms. They never seem to cease; but genuine atmospheric disturbances. From all points of the coast disasters are reported. The greatest height of the gale was reached at Holyhead on Monday night, when several hundred feet of the massive breakwater were completely demolished, concrete blocks of twenty to thirty tons weight each being tossed about by the waves like driftwood. The powerful passenger steamers that ply thence to Kingstown and Dublin north wall were unable to steam against the combined force of wind and sea, and after four hours' struggle returned amid considerable risk to their berths in the inner harbor. The Holyhead lifeboat was busy all through the week, and did excellent service, saving many lives. The gale also raged furiously round the coast of the Isle of Man. A large ship went ashore off Peel Castle but the crew were landed safely in the local lifeboat. The sea was running very high, and this is described as a piece of smart work by the plucky Manxmen. The Inman steamer City of Paris, which arrived at Queenstown from New York after a rapid passage of 5 days, 22 hours, and 55 minutes, reports having encountered a terrific south-west gale last Monday morning, and shipped tremendous seas, one of which swept overboard a young woman and a child of four years, both being carried away and drowned. Ten other passengers on deck at the time, were knocked down and dashed against the bulwarks, sustaining severe injuries. Later in the afternoon another huge sea broke over the vessel, and a quantity of water got into the saloon, causing great excitement among the passengers. A vessel that steams 500 miles a day is bound to be a wet ship in a seaway; and I must confess I should not choose an ocean greyhound to cross the Atlantic in when equinoctial gales are due.

POLITICAL STORMS.

Then there are the political storms. These have been anti-Unionist during the week and have taken the shape of a Gladstonian victory both at Peterborough and the borough of Elgin and Nairn. The former vacancy was created by the death of the Hon. W. Fitzwilliam through a fall in the hunting field. The candidates were Mr. R. Purvis (Unionist) and Mr. A. C. Morton (Gladstonian). Of course if a Fitzwilliam had championed the Unionist cause, there would have been no such turnover as the declaration of the poll showed. But in the absence of their strong local interest, the seat passed from the Unionists to the Gladstonians by a pretty considerable majority. Of course at the Elgin and Nairn election, a Unionist success was not expected; and Mr. T. Seymour Keay (G. L.) was returned with 2573 votes as against Mr. C. B. Logan (L. U.) with 2044. The Gladstonians are naturally enough making much capital out of these two successes in their pending fight for North Bucks. The candidates there are the Hon. Evelyn Hubbard (L. U.) and Captain Verney (G. L.). The latter bases his hopes on the fact that in 1885 he was returned by the overwhelming majority of 1456; but against that may be set the fact that his opponent may be credited with enjoying quite as full a measure of local popularity as his brother, whose succession to the peerage has caused the vacancy. We shall soon know.

FOREIGN POLITICS.

What are we to believe about foreign politics and new alliances? Three days ago all the talk was of a strong understanding, amounting almost to definitive overtures of alliance between Great Britain and Germany. Now the papers publish St. Petersburg telegrams, saying that the czar is contemplating the long-deferred return of the German emperor's visit. To political speculators these announcements may give rise to a little confusion, but while there is a strong probability of the truth of a rapprochement between England and Germany, it is wiser to regard the czar's visit—should it really be made—merely as a blind. For it is worthy of remark that the correspondent of the Times, who sends the news of the approaching interview, takes the opportunity to dwell a good deal upon Russian war preparations. "It is perfectly true," he says, "that Russia is preparing for war, but not for a war of her own making." The writer goes on to explain this statement by saying that the triple alliance is not believed at St. Petersburg to have purely pacific objects in view; at any rate the czar and his advisers do not mean to give its members the benefit of any doubt on the subject. This may or may not be true. It seems more likely, however, that Russia wishes to fully mature her preparations, before taking the field, and this visit is a sort of sop to Cerberus, intended to allay for a few months more any suspicion of sinister designs on her part. What a blessing it is amid these complications, that the mass-vote of France has gone against Boulangism, and that we really need apprehend no political disturbance of great European moment from that country. No; all the danger really lies with Russia, and Russian aims are to outsiders very inscrutable.

THE UNSTABLE RANDOLPH.

Lord Randolph Churchill made two speeches at Shirley last Saturday. The latter was the longer of the two. In it he entered into an elaborate defence of the first principles of the Unionist policy. This, though to London readers somewhat overdone, flat, stale, and unprofitable, is to outside centres of separatist opinion very beneficial and even necessary. In comparing the cases of Ireland and Scotland with reference to the union, the speaker pointed out, that at the time of passing the act of union by the Scottish Parliament in Queen Anne's reign, the vast majority of the Scottish people was violently opposed to the measure, and that there is, therefore, no manner of doubt that the Scottish Parliament did not represent the wishes of the Scottish people. He went on to say that the Gladstonians are fond of putting forward the plea—which is most clearly a plausible one—that the majority of the Irish people want Home Rule, and that therefore we are morally bound to give it to them. But are we? The history of Scotland before and after the union with England proves the wisdom of the Scottish Parliament in accepting the proposal of Anne's ministers, bitterly as that acceptance was denounced by the country in general. May we not then hope, the speaker argued, that a temporary disregard of the wishes of a much smaller majority of the Irish people, will in the long run prove equally beneficial to Ireland. Such was Lord Randolph's main line of argument; and in the mouth of any other well-known speaker it would no doubt produce a telling effect. But somehow people are never certain of Randolph's sincerity. They listen to him but always with an amused smile. They regard him as a political charlatan, and not a political mentor. In a word he is as unstable as water; because he always lets the love of his own self-glory take precedence of the love of his country's real good. Still Randolph is a force in English politics, but whether the Unionists appreciate his independent support of their side is doubtful. We incline to think their prayer is:—"Deliver us from our friends."

THE TURF.

Yesterday the Cesarewitch was run off in beautiful weather, and before a large attendance. Everything was favorable for the big race, a good field, turf in excellent going order, and any amount of money in the market. Davenport retained his position as first favorite right up to the start; though he was run close by Ingram and Veracity. The latest tip for betters was Primrose Day; but the bookmakers never laid less than 100 to 9 against her. A fair amount of support was given to Mercy, and a lot of French money was found for Vasistas. Twenty-two runners in all made their way to the post, and Lord Marcus Beresford, after one or two insignificant breaks, got them off on their journey to a capital start. After the first few hundred yards Mercy came well out and held the lead to the bushes, with Primrose Day second, and Ingram third. Making the descent into the dip, Primrose Day overhauled Mercy, who in turn was passed by Ingram, and though the latter made a good bid for first place, it was of no avail, the Michel Grove candidate winning in easy style by three length. Mercy was a bad third to Ingram, but as much of her support was only for a place, the majority of her backers were all right. It was extraordinary that for a race where it was so hard to spot the winner, so much solid backing was forthcoming. Primrose Day will start in consequence a hot favorite for the Cambridgeshire, though they say the owners are trying to win that race with her stable companion Peel Lanreate.

Donovan was again to the front last week with the Royal Plate. Some idea of the certainty it was regarded may be gathered from the betting, which was 100 to 7. Another score for the Duke of Portland. That young man may be congratulated on his wisdom as well as his luck. It is an open secret that one of the royal princesses would have accepted his hand, but he had sufficient spirit and independence to refuse to become a court appendage. It is much nicer for him to hear and read "the Duke and Duchess of Portland," than "H.R.H. Princess So-and-so, Duchess of Portland, and the Duke of Portland." One is first fiddle; the other is very decidedly a bad second. Of course a great deal depends on the nature of the man; and the Duke of Fife, though always quoted after his wife in court news, will never earn an obnoxious title, like that which distinguishes Prince Henry of Battenberg. That poor youth is now everywhere alluded to as Prince Beatrice. The queen, on dit, makes his position so little tolerable that he too is going out to join the masses—on strike.

ELECTED UNANIMOUSLY.

Thomas Earle, Esq., Made an M. P. Without Opposition.

At 2 o'clock to-day several gentlemen were gathered at Sheriff McMillan's office waiting to hear the result of the nominations for the House of Commons. At that hour the only name in the sheriff's hands was that of Mr. Thos. Earle, and having read the election writ, Mr. Earle was declared unanimously elected.

Being called for Mr. Earle addressed those assembled as follows: "I am proud to find that you reposed sufficient confidence in me to unanimously return me to the Dominion parliament. In THE TIMES of Saturday I noticed an editorial in which the writer stated that to-day the electors would be in the anomalous position of having two representatives in the Dominion parliament who were without a policy, but I hope when I return I shall deserve and have your confidence and esteem even more than I have it now. I shall do the best I can to deserve it, at all events."

Everything was quiet, and little or no enthusiasm was displayed in the matter, a comparatively few people seeming to be aware that the election of a member of the Dominion parliament was going on.

Advice Wasted.

In spite of the fact that times are pretty good and very few idle men about, a crowd of about twenty-seven stood looking at the workmen engaged in putting up the arch at the corner of Yates and Government streets. While the work was going forward twenty-seven suggestions as to how the work ought to be done. It was noticed, that the men in charge of the job went right on in their own way, and in due course the framework was raised all right.

Art Notice.

Porcelain portraits of all sizes enlarged from photos. Have your orders left with George Bigger, 86 Government street. Eight different kinds of work of art.

MARRIED A PRINCE.

Another American Girl Marries an Impecunious Son of Royalty.

The Queen to Open Parliament in Person—Hebrew Tailors in Difficulty.

By Postal Telegraph.]

London, October 28.—Prince Hatzfeldt and Miss Clara Huntington, adopted daughter of C. P. Huntington, were married this morning at Brampton Oratory. The ceremony was necessarily semi-private on account of the brief time allowed for arrangements, and because of the absence of many friends of the family from the city. About one hundred special guests were present in the Oratory, which had been sumptuously decorated with rich draperies and growing plants. Prince Hermann Hatzfeldt was best man. The bride was given away by her father. Miss Ebrall of Washington was the only bridesmaid. The marriage was performed by Bishop Emmons. Among those present were Count and Countess Allshair, Count Paul, German embassador in London, and his daughter, Austrian and American ministers to England, Counts Minsdorf and Leetzen, and the mother and brother of the bride. Count Paul gave a wedding breakfast at the German Embassy. After the wedding the newly wedded pair will pass their honeymoon in Italy.

A WIFE'S DEED.

Palmer, Mass., Oct. 28.—Frederick E. Whitcomb and Mrs. Helen F. Moore, his sister, were arrested to-day charged with the murder of John D. Moore, the woman's husband. He died Thursday and an autopsy showed the stomach contained a dark fluid, of which the nature cannot be known until after chemical analysis, but there was symptoms of poisoning. Deceased left considerable property; was aged and had only been married two weeks.

LATTIN'S SENTENCE.

Tacoma, Oct. 28.—David Lattin, who killed C. G. Grant on the night of July 19th, was this morning convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to twenty years imprisonment.

WAR OF ROADS.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—The Herald has an article stating that railroads competing with the Union Pacific and Northwest will form an alliance to fight the Vanderbilt's Union Pacific alliance.

DOMESTIC WOES.

New York, Oct. 28.—Justice Andrews of the Supreme Court to-day appointed Richard S. Newcombe, guardian of his daughter Ida Floorine Newcombe in order that suit may be brought against George W. Lederer, for annulment of the marriage ceremony performed in Long Island City a few days ago, of which Miss Newcombe and Lederer were contracting parties. Lederer is now under arrest on a charge of bigamy, the woman with whom he was living having claimed that she was his wife.

PRISON SUNDAY.

New York, Oct. 28.—"Prison Sunday" was generally observed throughout New York city and state. Special church services were held and collections taken up for the continuance of the work of reforming criminals.

ANOTHER ARREST.

Chicago, Oct 28.—Thomas Duane, who drove Dr. Cronin to the Carlson cottage, was arrested last night at St. Joseph, Michigan, and is to be brought here immediately.

FUNERAL OF A GIANTESS.

New York, Oct. 28.—The funeral of Annie Price, the Irish giantess, known as "Barnum's Fat Woman," occurred to-day. It took sixteen men to carry the coffin to the hearse. The burial clothes were the same worn by the deceased when she appeared before the public, a dark maroon plush dress, elaborately trimmed with white lace.

BIG BLAZE.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 28.—The Frost and Ward block, containing the best business houses in Dunmore borough, were destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $32,000. The fire department of Scranton saved the town from destruction. The fire was of incendiary origin.

TEN LIVES LOST.

Baltimore, Oct. 28.—Information has reached here of the loss of the schooner Francis E. Waters, on Nagshead, N. C., during a storm on Wednesday night. Nine men and one woman clung to the rigging for nearly 48 hours and then becoming exhausted were swept off one by one. The life crew were unable to save them on account of the great weight of the surf.

HEBREW TAILORS

Out of Work and Strangers in a Strange Land.

London Oct. 27.—A movement is on foot among wealthy Hebrews in London to raise funds to send back to Poland and Russia the poor Jewish tailors who were lured here from those countries during the strike of London tailors recently by promises of steady work and high wages. There is absolutely nothing for these people to do here now that the strike is over, and as they have incurred the enmity of those of their fellow countrymen whose places they took, they are left utterly friendless in a strange land. It is not improbable that these unfortunates will be all shipped to the United States, as has been proposed, the American law being evaded by taking them to some Canadian port first and then sending them over the border into the States.

A ROYAL WEDDING.

The Duke of Sparta United in Marriage.

Athens, Oct. 28.—The Duke of Sparta and Princess Sophie of Prussia were married at noon yesterday by the Metropolitan of Athens in the Greek cathedral. The emperor and empress accompanied the bridal party to the cathedral. They were the centre of attraction. Next came the Prince and Princess of Wales. They were also heartily greeted. The Empress Frederick, accompanied by her daughter, the Princess Victoria, was an object of deep interest. The bridal pair on entering the cathedral were received by the Metropolitan and archbishops, two bishops and the clergy, arrayed in the rich pontificials of the Greek church.

SALISBURY UNEASY.

He is Urging the Queen to Open Parliament in Person.

London, Oct. 28.—Lord Salisbury is urging the Queen to open parliament in person at the beginning of next session. He advises this, to Her Majesty (an unusual step, in view of the fact that this session will be of very critical importance in the affairs of the nation, and that a real crisis is sure to be reached in connection with the various Irish bills which the government intends to introduce.

Lord Salisbury is to deliver a speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet, and it is expected he will make an announcement in which he will claim pacific results from the interviews of Kaiser Wilhelm with the Czar and Sultan.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

Sea Lawyers—The Behring Sea Matter—Beacon Hill, Etc.

Whether the following anecdote is true or not, I cannot say, but really, judging matters by the unimpeached veracity of my informant, I am afraid that it is. My friend was standing in front of the Union Club on Douglas street on Monday night (time 10:40), talking with a well-known doctor who doesn't live a thousand miles from that spot, when a staggering form was seen coming towards them out of the gloom. When it got closer they recognized a gentleman who had evidently been worsted in a battle with whisky. Approaching them and laying his hand heavily on the doctor's arm, he remarked, "I shay, m' friend, 'sh thisher Union Club?"

"Yes."

"Well (hic) nexsh time it comes roun' thish way (hic) jes stop it, pleash."

* * *

Wherever a man-of-war floats with her companion number of sailors there are always to be found a certain section of the latter who among their comrades have obtained the enviable or unenviable distinction of being "sea lawyers," and therefore it is no startling statement to make when I say that our warships in the Pacific squadron teem with men of such kidney. This is not the worst part of the business. The work of the average sea lawyer is mainly made up by supplying information to scandal loving journals as to the inferior quality of their food, eccentricities of their officers, derangements of the service, rottenness of the ships themselves, and subjects of a like character, and all such "facts" are greedily snapped up, paid for liberally, and hastily published. How an editor of any paper can publish statements utterly untrue, emanating from some A. B. who thinks himself aggrieved, or who perhaps has no objection to increasing his scanty income at the expense of the man to whom he sends his trash, I cannot imagine. But London Truth very nearly every week contains a long string of these unfounded statements that, when read by people who know how they are obtained, only cause contempt for the publisher of them. "I learn from a high authority" that Mr. Labouchere generally starts such items with, should read, "I have just received the following scrawl from John Smith, A. B., H. M. S." It is well sometimes to be behind the scenes.

* * *

Among the long list of "has beens" may now be reckoned the tourist invasion, the Behring Sea excitement, and the old Rock Bay bridge. With regard to the former, the tourists have all expressed themselves as greatly pleased with our city and province, and it is expected that next season the present hotel accommodation will not be nearly adequate for their wants. By the way, while I am on this subject, where has the new hotel company gone to? Are they to be reckoned among the "has beens" too? I sincerely hope not. With regard to the Behring Sea matter, as far as a man of average intelligence can make out, all that seems to be left of the whole disgusting business is an immortal fame for Lieutenant Tuttle, a lot of gin inspired talk, and now and then a senile report in some big San Francisco newspaper about the bloodthirsty attitude of the aforesaid gin-taster towards the aforesaid Tuttle. I venture to assert that if Mr. Tuttle, U. S. S. Rush, were to come to Victoria to-morrow the only inconvenience he would be made to feel would be the necessity of staving off attacks from newspaper reporters and correspondents, and perhaps also from one or two enterprising local photographers. Half of the gentlemen who met him under peculiar circumstances in Behring Sea would be anxious to get a drink out of him on the strength of previous acquaintance. Such is fame!

* * *

Electricity is life, and it is extremely probable, judging by the public sentiment of the American people regarding the killing of murderers by that subtle fluid, that it is going to be sudden death, too. Everywhere in the United States the idea of these electrical executions is gaining favor, but it is extremely improbable whether a British country will ever accept the innovation. However, as America is concerned, the impending change should be welcomed by the public as likely to institute a different style of newspaper report on the subject of a murderer's doom. The following lines will doubtless express my meaning more clearly:

"I would be a great relief, I ween,
To murderers to know
That when they leave this mortal scene
Through lightning's sudden blow,
The new reporter, sitting near
With curdles in his blood,
Will not be able then to hear
'A dull and sickening thud.'"

If you would
Take a stroll,
Beacon Hill
Be your goal.
There you meet
Freshest air
Pure and sweet
Everywhere.
Waters roll
Past your sight,
Fill your soul
With delight.
Take advice,
Thither hie,
Tired Brain
Weary eye,
Both are glad
As they gaze
At hills clad
In blue haze.
Over there
Is the Sound.
Visions fair,
All around
Float before
As we look—
Heath clad shore,
Shady nook:
These have we
At our door,
Things of beauty
To adore.
This fair isle
Ever will
Have its crown
In Beacon Hill.

CANADIAN DISPATCHES

The Case of Ellis, the St. John Editor, Before the Canada Supreme Court.

Chapleau to be Banquetted for the Conservative Victory in Richelieu.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Lindsay, Oct. 27.—Mr. Robert Campbell, cattle buyer of Fara, Brock county, was robbed of $1750 by highwaymen near here last night.

VACANCIES IN THE SENATE.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—There are now six vacancies in the Dominion senate, including one in Manitoba and one in the Northwest.

A LOCAL SCANDAL.

Halifax, Oct. 27.—Considerable talk has been caused here by the announcement that Mr. James A. Fraser, a graduate of the Halifax Medical School, has married at Washington Lillie G. Heine, clerk in the census bureau. Dr. Fraser has a wife here, a daughter of a leading citizen, and by whom he has had three children.

FROM OTTAWA.

The Case of Mr. Ellis, M. P., of St. John Postponed.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Ottawa, October 28.—John Dyke, immigration agent, arrived here this morning from a trip to British Columbia, Manitoba and the Northwest. He was simply amazed at the fertility of the soil of British Columbia, and reports settlers doing well in the Northwest and Manitoba.

In the Supreme Court to-day the case of Ellis vs Queen, appeal from the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, arising out of the notorious Baird election case, was allowed to stand till next term. Ellis is Dominion member for St. John and editor of the Globe in which the articles complained of appeared. He was sued for contempt of court. It is similar to the Higgins-Walkem case, and the judges expressed the opinion that it would be better if the judge had taken, as in that case, action for libel instead of for contempt.

It is said in official circles that Colby will be made president of the council in government and Sir John minister of railways and canals.

A banquet is to be given to Chapleau for the victory in Richelieu.

NEW COASTING REGULATIONS

Create Quite a Stir on the Pacific Coast.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—Advices from British Columbia would seem to indicate that the recent customs order relative to coasting has created quite a little stir. It appears until a short time ago American vessels enjoyed full coasting privileges in British Columbia waters, but the same has been rigidly refused to Canadian vessels in American waters. Thus while the United States vessels have been allowed to take bonded freight from Vancouver which has come over the C. P. R. and deliver at Canadian ports, Canadian vessels on the other hand, have not been allowed to gather freight at Portland and deliver at Seattle, Tacoma or Port Townsend. Now this is changed. Acting upon representations of Canadian shipping owners there, an order has been issued by the department that when goods are transported in bond over United States railways in transit from Canadian port, destined for a port in British Columbia, carrying from the part of transhipment to the point of destination shall only be done by British vessels, or foreign vessels which acquired a right to the coasting trade of Canada.

A. B. C. DERBY.

To Be Held in Victoria in the Year 1892.

The best part of the vigorous programme laid down for itself by the B. C. Jockey Club has never been made public. It was resolved at the last meeting of the club to hold a British Columbia Derby in the autumn of 1892. A purse will be offered with 10 per cent entrance money added, which will bring the prize up to about $1500. The horses, which will be allowed to enter will be British Columbia bred horses, that is horses foaled in this province.

QUEEN'S PLATE.

In the interim it was decided to hold a racing meeting in the spring of next year and every successive spring. For these a purse of $500 will be subscribed, together with plate, the race to be known as the Queen's Plate, and to be the maiden race of all provincial bred horses. The entrance to said race will be 10 per cent.

The foregoing will show that the Jockey Club has laid out a vigorous programme, and one which will cause its meetings to be one of the greatest provincial events each year.

Mr. Colville and Jonah.

The book of Jonah has always been a subject for ridicule by infidels, but could any of them have listened to Mr. Colville's lecture on the subject yesterday must have felt that a modification of their ideas on the subject were necessary. Mr. Colville holds that the bible is an inspired book from beginning to end. Indeed, claiming to speak from inspiration solely himself he could scarcely argue otherwise. He holds, however, that the language of sacred writ must not be literally interpreted. Its language is wholly symbolical, or in his words, is the rind or outer shell which must be removed in order to get at the true contents. Thus, literally rendered the book of Jonah is a difficult thing to swallow, but the outer shell removed and Jonah's conscience made the active agent of his behavior, we have an expose at once reasonable and which everybody can understand. Mr. Colville will lecture in Nanaimo to-night, but on Tuesday and Wednesday night will lecture again at Harmony Hall, subjects to be selected by the audience. We recommend Mr. Colville to the delectation of the most orthodox in this city. Admission free.

Modes of Execution.

The modes of execution in the different countries are: In Austria, gallows, public; Bavaria, guillotine, private; Belgium, guillotine, public; Brunswick, axe, private; China, sword or cord, public; Denmark, guillotine, public; Ecuador, musket, public; France, guillotine, public; Great Britain, gallows, private; Hanover, guillotine, public; (Italy, capital punishment abolished); Oldenburg, musket, public; Portugal, gallows, public; Prussia, sword, private; Russia, musket, gallows or sword, public; Saxony, guillotine, private; Spain, garrote, public; Switzerland, fifteen cantons, sword, public; two cantons, guillotine, public; two guillotine, private; United States, other than New York, gallows, mostly private; New York, electricity; Utah, choice of shooting or hanging.

THOMAS EARLE, M. P.

Mr. THOMAS EARLE'S election by acclamation, as a representative in the House of Commons, has been a foregone conclusion ever since Mr. BAKER surrendered, in a surreptitious manner, the cares of the office, and the "combine" pressed Mr. EARLE to accept of a nomination. Although we have not succeeded in drawing a declaration of opinion from Mr. EARLE, and notwithstanding that we believe that an unspeakable politician almost invariably makes a suspicious public servant, our knowledge of the personal character of the new representative warrants us in predicting that he will endeavor to serve the city to the best of his ability. Mr. EARLE possesses too much wealth ever to become a place-hunter, like some of his predecessors, and is too old and too sensible a man to be bedazzled or beguiled by the glitter of the Ottawa court, or by promises of promotion to an easy chair in a custom house, or to a sinecure seat among the mimic lords. Mr. EARLE will, we are inclined to believe, be influenced by his own judgment, at least on all questions affecting the interests of British Columbia. He has not, it is true, explained himself to the electors on any question; but when he takes his seat in the house, and is called upon to vote, he will not be able, no matter how much he is inclined, to maintain his present position of non-committalism. In the election of Mr. EARLE, Victoria furnishes the only example on record in Canada of a metropolitan constituency selecting two representatives, both untried men, and swallowing them bodily without the sugar-coating of a plausible exposition, by card or speech, of the political principles they are chosen to espouse. We sincerely trust that so much incredulity will not be imposed upon, and that a confiding people will never have occasion to regret going it blind when called upon to perform the highest duty which they owe to their country. Although Mr. EARLE has failed to respond to our oft repeated requests for an open political confession, we can, nevertheless, congratulate him upon having attained to a high position by virtue of his popularity, secured after a life-time of honorable intercourse with his fellow citizens.

FOOD ADULTERATION.

After listening to Mr. COLVILLE, who lectured yesterday at Harmony Hall, and who rather leans to the belief that men err through ignorance, and then turning to the San Francisco Call, which relates that the grocers of that city are selling "bull butter" (oleomargarine) without the label on it as prescribed by law, a revulsion of feeling sets in, and the doctrine of total depravity reasserts itself with startling force. Several years ago the butter makers of California, finding themselves undersold in the market, began to investigate matters, and they shortly discovered that oleomargarine was the cause of it. Now, the butter makers of California constitute a formidable body, and backed by the gastronomic predilections of the entire state they carried their grievance to the legislature, which body after carefully sifting the subject, passed a law that "bull butter" must be labelled the same as any other grease. The legislature could not forbid the manufacture of the stuff nor prevent its being sold; that would be unconstitutional, (the legislature of California with all its faults is more scrupulous than our own in the matter of constitutional limitations,) but they could compel the stuff to be labelled so that people should know what they were eating, and so the fiat went forth. This satisfied the butter makers. They were content to compete against a mixture of tallow and lard, provided it was sold as such, but they could no abide competing against such a combination sold as butter. The ignorant grocers, however, men whom heaven had failed to provide with a nice sense of moral discrimination, have been unable to discover the turpitude of transgressing the law in the matter, and so it happens that the receipts of the butter makers are again falling off. Now that the butter makers have discovered the source of the trouble, the day is not far distant when some unlucky grocer will be under the necessity of giving bail in the sum of a few hundred, as a guarantee of his appearance in court to answer the question "guilty or not guilty." The punishment of the grocers' though, will scarcely throw much light on the question of their free moral agency. We shall still be left in the dark as to whether they should be sent to prison or to a reformatory. It would be consoling to think that scoundrelism as a rule is the outcome of ignorance, but an impartial survey of the situation forces a precisely opposite view. It seems to be the consequence of that degree of intelligence which enable a man to calculate with some degree of accuracy the chances of escaping detection, and in the instance of the San Francisco grocers the scoundrelism of their offence is aggravated by their want of consideration for the gastronomic prejudices of their customers, not to mention the hygienic proprieties which may have been violated. A few years ago a certain fruit-canning company put on the market a spurious manufacture. The adulteration was so flagrant that the News Letter took upon itself the heroic duty of exposing the fraud. This company, and several others as well, who were making money by poisoning the people, went into liquidation. It is now in order for the News Letter to put detectives on the track of scoundrelly grocers, and, if possible, send them over to San Quentin, the sojourning place for California's criminals.

THE CONGRESS OF AMERICAN NATIONS.

We see no good in the furtive kicks which some Canadian papers are making because Canada was not invited to participate in the Pan-American Congress, and we see no good in the furtive exultation which these papers display over the fact that neither Mexico nor Chili are participants. These thrusts are undignified. They show a pettish temper and a small jealousy, which we may excuse in a coterie of tea drinking old maids, but never in journalists who are supposed to discuss passing events with judicial equipoise, and not as censors and especially not in the spirit of narrow provincialism; or if this hardly expresses our meaning, not in a tone which exposes an intense ignorance of the fitness of things. Had the United States invited Canada to participate in the Congress they would have been guilty of gross discourtesy to England, and had Canada accepted, the act must have been construed as tantamount to a declaration of independence. Considering the tendency to spread eagleism in the United States the influence they exert as a populous, wealthy and enterprising nation, the inherent habit they have of twisting the tail of the British Lion, the fact of their having ignored Canada shows an appreciation of English susceptibilities, and of presumptive Canadian loyalty to the mother country which does them infinite honor. Had BLAINE wished to nag England, irritate her, and thus make himself solid with certain political influences inimical to England, he probably would have invited Canada to join in the Pan American deliberations, and though this must have tickled Canadian vanity, as honest men they must not only have declined, but have regarded the invitation as an imputation on their honor and loyalty. So far as the failure of Mexico and Chili to be represented in the congress is concerned, it is practically a case of cutting off the nose to spite the face. Forgetful of the fact that the evacuation of Mexico by the French was owing to the demand of the United States, forgetful that Mexico retains her autonomy through the suffrance of the United States, the Mexicans still remember the Mexican war, and pout at their manifest destiny, which is either their absorption by the United States or their finally being overrun by the tide of immigration from the United States, which is increasing every year, which in a few years more will become a torrent, and which inevitably will knock Mexican individuality sky high. The tendency of mankind, as history shows, has been to escape the rigors of long, severe winters. Emigration invariably has been southward, and not north. For every man who has settled down in the vicinity of the fiftieth parallel, a dozen have gone south of the fortieth. Not until the south is well settled up will the attention of the greater mass of home seekers be seriously directed to the north. Thus we conclude that the re-peopling of Mexico by the peoples of the north is inevitable, and such we opine will occur within the next generation. Mexico may still remain an independent state, but the half breed and enervated people of that state are bound to be supplanted by the more virile Anglo Saxon and kindred races, who possibly in their turn, with the lapse of time will become as enervated as the people whom they have exterminated or absorbed. But we will say for the benefit of Canadian journals, who are hostile because they have not been given an opportunity to slap the mother country in the face, there is no probability of the Pan American Congress resulting in anything more than an immense pow-wow and multitudinous drunks. The Americans themselves recognize the difficulties in the way of opening up extensive commercial relations with their southern neighbors. They are keenly aware that they have a lively competitor in England, and that so far as the South Americans are concerned, as chosing between England and the United States, they have no racial prejudices to conserve. At all events, whatever agreement may be the outcome of the Congress it cannot be carried out in a day. Time will be required and in the meantime England will have an opportunity to re-establish whatever prestige she may have lost on account of the pow-wow now going on at Washington.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Next to an investment in a fashionable wife, delicately nurtured horse flesh affords a fair opportunity for getting rid of spare cash, cash in fact that cannot be well spared. El Rio Rey, the speediest two year old of the season, and a veritable sensation withal, is now seriously ill of pneumonia. This colt has been cared for like the "infant of a queen," says a writer, yet for all a mortal disease has claimed him for its own. Death loves a shining mark and horses are no exception. Treat a horse with a consideration due his pedigree, and his trotting or running capabilities, as did the chances are ten to one he will lay down and die before his days of usefulness are half over. Given a worthless mustang, however one which will eat his head off if he is stabled for a week, and you have an animal impervious of disease, and which will flatten in snow two foot deep, provided there is grass at the bottom of it. The trouble seems to be that blooded animals are too well cared for. They are treated as exotics. The stables are too warm, and when they are brought out into the open air, as with persons who keep themselves too closely housed, they are liable to contract a cold. Prize fighters, scullers and other kinds of athletes have discontinued the old-fashioned notion of training down too fine. It will probably dawn upon horse fanciers after a while, that the fields instead of stables were made for two year old colts, and further, that no colt of that age should be more than halter broke, let alone saddle broke, and compelled to run races.

While the English Tories inveigh against boycotting when practised among the Irish tenantry, and insist upon treating it as a crime, they do not hesitate to adopt it as a political weapon in their own country. Recently Mr. LABOUCHERE was invited to address a meeting at Bexhill, in Sussex, one of the south-eastern counties of England, and a stronghold of aristocratic Toryism. The principal promoter of the Bexhill meeting was Lady MAIDSTONE, who, although she belongs to a strongly Conservative family, is a Home Ruler. She rents a property near Bexhall from a Mr. WALKER, and when this gentleman got word of the meeting he gave notice to Lady MAIDSTONE that he would allow no tenant of his to hold a political demonstration on his property. Lady MAIDSTONE bade him defiance and redoubled her exertions to get all the people of the neighborhood to come to hear Mr. LABOUCHERE's speech. Mr. WALKER then erected a barrier on the neighboring property to shut out the public, and for the moment flattered himself that he had knocked the demonstration on the head. But it was of no avail. The people came in tremendous numbers, Mr. LABOUCHERE had a most successful and enthusiastic meeting, and now the discomfited Mr. WALKER is the laughing stock of the county of Sussex.

The Stokers' Inferno.

This racing of ocean greyhounds across the Atlantic may be fun for the passengers, but it's death to the crew. The sufferings of the firemen on a recent trip are described as something terrible. One unfortunate was carried to the hospital in New York unconscious, as he had been for three days. Ten others were overcome by the terrific heat. A stoker says the heat is absolutely fearful and takes the strength right out of a man. He says it is no wonder that some of the stokers become insane and jump overboard. It is no less remarkable than it is true that while men have racked their brains to improve the stability of ships and improve the motive power, no special thought has been given to improved methods of feeding the furnaces of ocean steamers. Under the most favorable circumstances on land the furnace room is intolerably hot, but is nevertheless as a refrigerator compared to the hold of the modern steamship. It would appear as if an automatic feeding machine might be provided for steamers where so much heat has to be generated to produce a high rate of speed. The ingenuity which could devise the modern marine engine could work out the problem, did it direct its attention to it. The necessity of saving fuel produced the triple expansion engine. Whenever the necessity of saving firemen is as imperative somebody will come forward with a device to meet the contingency. We need not look for it until then. Human flesh don't amount to much anyhow.

THE LORE OF HAIDA.

THE RAVEN'S EMPIRE.

The Empire founded by the Raven extended many hundreds of miles to north and south of Queen Charlotte Islands, as we now know them. Southwards to Cape Scott of Vancouver Island; northward to an island known to the Indians as Sitka Mouth where they say sealers and whalers shelter in bad weather. In very old times there existed to the south of Cape St. James, the present southern extremity of the group, a large and very populous island. It was however cursed by a medicine man and instantly sank beneath the waves. Other islands are remembered, now merely a wash in the seas to north and south of the group.

The entire region indeed is in the direct line of that volcanic belt that completely embraces the Pacific Ocean. While the Andes are in active eruption, and New Zealand and Java subject to frightful convulsions, the fires that shook these North American coasts have nearly died away. Within the memory of man the mountains of Queen Charlotte Islands were active volcanoes as the Aleutian islands are to-day. The eruption that created the lava plain and canyon in the valley of the Nass River is vividly remembered and described by the Nishgar Indians. Near the mouths of the Skeena and Nass Rivers there are valuable hot springs, as also at Sitka and in many other localities, probably. Occasional slight earthquake shocks; the ruined ice-bound craters of extinct volcanoes, such as may be seen in the Skeena valley on the north bank near Lorne Creek; and such marks of stupendous convulsions as exist in Knight Inlet, where a vertical cliff rises out of forty fathoms sheer to the height of 3160 feet, as though half a mountain had been thrown into the channel by a sudden shock. These and many other evidences exist of a recent and very terrible age of fire.

But if the Land of the Haida is being wasted away into the depths of the sea, the Empire of the Raven is still further diminished by the sudden and fearful extermination of its people by pestilence and disease. Every influence has conduced to destroy them; their higher quality of manhood, their daring as navigators consequent on the environment of wild and very dangerous seas, and their general capacity made the Haidas a race of kings. So many perished in war that the villages at least had a population of alien slaves, dominated by a comparatively small number of masters. The islands were always the slave market, the canoe market, and the mart of nearly all textile industries of the entire coast. The coming of the white men brought the wealthy Haidas into contact with unlimited supplies of liquor, with which they quickly destroyed themselves, having larger funds with which to purchase destruction. The adoption of new habits, of European clothes, which got wet and hung soaking on their bodies in bad weather, of white men's houses which they neither cleaned nor ventilated; of complicated food unsuited to their systems, were all more or less fatal, making the race sickly at a time when it never more needed strength. Again, the higher quality of the women caused them to be sought after by the white men in preference to those of other tribes, and the contact injurious to whites induced diseases entirely fatal to the Indians. And lastly came epidemic disease, to be treated with native remedies. The Indian physician prescribed daily buckets of salt water taken internally, attributed sickness to the bedevilment of mice in which disguise evil spirits had got into the sick man's inside. The treatment was enough to poison a ghost. Such was a lesser pestilence fatal by mistreatment of the sick, but who can gauge the horror of the smallpox plague in these crowded villages, where the stricken were first carried into the woods with a little food and water and left to their fate, where in time the survivors too weak for any tendance or burial of the bodies that polluted every house, fled to their canoes, and, exposed to the elements, sought safety in caves of the rock-bound coasts, or in the salt sea air, from the remorseless enemy that warred mysteriously from within and could not be appeased. To-day numbers of ancient villages are falling to ruin in all parts of the Queen Charlotte Islands, villages with a range of crest poles extending a full mile along the beach where once in the long range of houses dwelt the Haida chiefs of the good old times, surrounded by their troops of slaves. To-day there are not a thousand of the Haidas left out of the many thousands seen by early travelers, and for the most part the Raven's Empire is become an utter desolation.

ODD FELLOWSHIP

Has More Names on Its Rolls than any Civilized Secret Order.

John C. Underwood, of Kentucky, grand sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., was one of the jolliest members of the party of delegates who arrived in Portland a few days ago. He is a typical Southern gentleman and never fails to make friends of all whom he chances to meet.

He is a stoutly built man of medium stature, dark complexioned with dancing blue eyes and wears a long, dark moustache with a big goatee of French imperial style. Having been a newspaper man himself he is a devoted friend of the craft, and particularly likes the reporters, holding that they are the vim and push of the paper, as they collect and compile that kind of news which all read, local.

"The Independent Order of Odd Fellows is growing with amazing rapidity," said Grand Sire Underwood to an Oregonian reporter just before the delegates left for home via the Sound yesterday morning. "Last year 25,000 new members were added to the rolls. There are now 550,000 members under the jurisdiction of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and 630,000 in the mother order in England, making nearly 1,200,000 in the world, which is a larger membership than any other civilized secret order, being 100,000 larger than the Masonic order.

"Odd Fellowship is the richest order in the world. The revenue last year was between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, one-half of which amount has been expended for relief of various kinds.

"The order is growing all over the world, in every state and territory, in Canada, South America, Germany, Switzerland, Australasia and, in fact, wherever there are civilized people. Its teachings are all moral and charitable, and no man is a bad man who has been a good Odd Fellow.

"The mother of the order was formerly a social organization, but the American I. O. O. F. has been built much in advance of the mother institution, and while it has a social character, it is organized more on a basis of mutual relief and ennobling principles and a doctrine taken from the Bible, and as a code of morals cannot be surpassed. It is a cultivated society, of which any and all its members should be proud.

A new feature of the order is three years' standing in the military branch known as the Patriarchs Militant, which is akin to the Knights Templar. It was organized in Baltimore September 24th, 1885, with one canton and thirty members, and has since grown to 511 cantons and 20,000 members, organized into battalions, regiments, brigades, divisions and an army. It has the handsomest uniform on the continent and its military displays are enthusiastically received by the officers of the regular army, by the national guard of the several states and by all military organizations. The Patriarchs Militant are purely military and the tenet or motto teaching is justicia universalis, which means universal justice. All of the ceremonies are of a chivalrous degree. There are decorations connected with degrees, which are given for worth, consisting of decorations of chivalry given to chevaliers and ladies, and grand decorations of chivalry given to officers and members of the sovereign grand lodge for services."

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Interest on the C. P. R. Steamers Doubly Guaranteed

An English paper gives the following particulars concerning the C. P. R. steamers: "Subject to the adjustment of certain details, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company have contracted with the Naval Construction and Armaments Company, whose works are at Barrow, for three large first class twin screw passenger steamers, to be built of steel, and of high speed. These steamers, which will be luxuriously equipped, are to be placed on the Pacific route from British Columbia to Yokohama, with a view of developing a route to the East.

The steamers are to cost about £200,000 apiece. One is to be delivered in fourteen months from the signing of the contract, one in fifteen months, and one in sixteen months. They are to be 6,000 tons each, able to go 18 knots an hour, and are to be 440 feet long, and 51 feet beam.

At £200,000 apiece, the cost of the service will be £600,000, and the annual charge involved at 5 per cent. would be £30,000, while the company is to secure a subsidy of £60,000 a year from the British and Canadian Governments."

The steamers, it will be seen, will be about the size of the Parisian, one of the largest of the Allan line.

FROM THE GOLD MINES.

The Summer's Work at the Cottonwood Mines.

Mr. M. S. Davys, manager and shareholder of the Cottonwood gold mines, seven miles from Nelson, Kootenay, has returned to Nanaimo after being away for the last six months. These mines are now closed down for the winter. Mr. Davys states they have been engaged all summer in extensive operations on the mines and putting in a 25-ton Huntingdon mill, which he intends to run in the spring. There have been 27 men working there all the summer, and the average output of rock has been 25 tons per day. Mr. Davys would not state what the rock assayed, as he said that was strictly private and would not interest outsiders as they did not intend to sell their mine but to work it themselves. He states there are a great number of American capitalists there who have bought many of the claims, and he states that Mr. Mackay, the famous Nevada operator, has also bought a few rich claims there and commenced to work them. There is plenty of water, so they experience no difficulty in washing the rock. There is also another ten-stamp mill being erected on the Eagle Creek mine, owned by Mr. Davenport, which will also be running in the spring. Mr. Davys expects to employ about 200 men next spring providing everything turns out as he anticipates. The claims of the Cottonwood Gold Mining Co., which they have been engaged on are 4500 feet above sea level, and there is another claim called the Silver King which is owned by the Kootenay Bonanza Mining Co., and is supposed to be the richest mine in the camp, which is 6000 feet above sea level.

The Spokane and Nothern Railway Company are engaged in laying down a railroad which they intend to bring through Colville where the trains are at present running, providing they can get the charter they intend to bring it into the Kootenay country. This will prove a great boon to the gold mines, as at present the companies are compelled to bring all their material from the United States, as they find it cheaper to pay the duty and ship it to the mines on account of having no access to the camp from Canada, beyond a rough trail, as the Canadian government has done nothing towards opening up the country.

THE CARE OF THE HAIR.

How the English Girl Greatly Surpasses Her American Sister.

The fashionable girl of New York has modelled herself so closely upon her English contemporaries in dress, manner and ideas that to the casual observer there seems to be no way of distinguishing them, not even by voice, for no New York girl rests content until she has acquired the exact tone and inflections of Hon. Miss Chartrises and Lady Gwendolens, who rule in such matters on the other side, says the New York World. The London tailor and coatmaker makes them indistinguishable as to dress, tennis. Russian baths and horseback exercise give them the same erect carriage and glowing complexion, and careful imitation results in the same absolutely correct and colorless manner. There is but one point in which they fail of such exact reproduction that they can't be told apart by experts, and that is the silken sleekness of their hair. Our climate, with its extremes, is very hard upon the hair and tends, despite careful care and brushing, to make it harsh and rough and to break it and render it uneven. The smooth, shiny chestnut locks of the average English girl are one of her greatest charms and this is the way she preserves their beauty: She takes half a pint of pure glycerine which she puts in a quart bottle, and to this she adds six ounces of lime water, shaking the two together vigorously. When these are properly churned the lime water turns the glycerine into a white soft cream. Upon going to bed the female Britisher takes a little of this and rubs it with her finger tips into the roots of her hair, giving it a vigorous brushing that distributes the cream from roots to tip. This she does once a week, with the result of keeping her hair silken soft and of not only preserving its bright chestnut color but of keeping the scalp perfectly clean and white. Mrs. Kendal, who wears her hair in smooth bandeaux over her ears, has always used this since her girlhood, with the result that her hair looks as fresh and bright as when she was 16, and all women know that hair ages as much as the face, not only by turning gray but by getting hard and losing its gloss tints. This, with a little cold cream to rub stage paint out of her cheeks with, is the only toilet paint that Mrs. Kendal ever uses.

Bogus Jewellery Peddler

The young fellow, James McCartney, sent up this morning for assaulting a Chinaman, belongs to a family of gipsies who make their living very questionably to say the least, and James bears out the reputation of the others in first-class style. On Saturday he entered the bar-room of a hotel, and told the barkeeper a pitiful story of how hard up he was, stating that he had a job to go to work at Monday, but wanted to raise a few cents to live on till then, ending his story by producing a massive gold (?) watchchain, which he said had cost him $6, and asked what the barkeeper would give for it. Upon being inspected, the chain was found to be of brass, brassy, but to help the fellow an offer of fifty cents for it was made. The offer was taken at once, and as soon as the money was paid a long chain with locket was drawn forth and offered. Twenty-five cents was taken for this. Then a ring which he asserted was solid gold was sold for ten cents. The barkeeper then gave the boy a lecture, as even if brass the prices of the articles were below cost, and warned the peddler of the penalties of bringing stolen property into Canada. Finding his game was dropped to, the boy left, but he must have made other sales, as he got money enough to get boiling drunk on before night. When arrested he still had a varied assortment of the same kind of cheap jewellry left, and it is evident that it is part of the trade to concoct a story of want and then sell some of the worthless stuff. He won't sell any more for some weeks to come anyway.

Miss McIntosh, late of Minneapolis, has opened dressmaking parlors on the S. W. corner of Yates and Broad streets, immediately over Hampson & Terry's cash dry goods establishment, where she will be pleased to meet the ladies of Victoria requiring her services. 1w

Real Estate.

The sale of four acres of land on the Saanich road this sale of Tolmie's is reported to-day at $6000. They were purchased a few years ago for $100 per acre.

Welcome Among Us.

A gentleman from Wisconsin has purchased a lot for $1000 from Hon. Amor DeCosmos and proposes erecting a large residence on it and making other investments in the city, with whose beauty and unrivalled position he is very much taken.

Left for Other Parts.

On the doors of the Britannia restaurant are posted three different summonses to-day, with more to follow. Mr. and Mrs. B. Miller, who have lately been keeping this restaurant, have left the city for the benefit of their health. It is not known what seaside resort they have gone to. Their liabilities are between $700 and $1000; assets nominal.—Free Press.

Mr. Bole Does Wisely.

Owing to His Honor, Judge Harrison, being unable to return sooner from Cariboo, the New Westminster County Court has been adjourned from the 6th to the 8th November. The reason of Judge Harrison sitting as judge at this term of court is from the fact that in several of the cases likely to come up, Judge Bole has been concerned as counsel before his elevation to the bench.

Insane Man Captured.

Officer Miller of the provincial police force left at ten o'clock yesterday morning for James Island, going by way of Saanich, from where he crossed over in a canoe. His object was to take in charge a Greek resident of the island, whose mind is unbalanced. The noble six-foot Athenian offered considerable objection to leaving his lair, but after some little trouble he was persuaded to "come along" and was safely incarcerated in the provincial jail at 8 o'clock last night.

Very Remarkable.

A Spokane Falls dispatch says: A remarkable state of affairs is reported from the United States custom house at Osoyoos Lake on the British Columbia border. No collector has been stationed there, and now the Indians have taken possession of the log structure formerly occupied by the representative of this government. Just across the line Her Majesty's government has a fine custom house, conducted with all the precision usually found in the British outposts. Chinamen and opium are constantly crossing the border without restraint.

Register at Once.

All who desire to have their names placed on the Dominion voters' list must attend to the matter to-morrow or Wednesday. The qualifications are simple; a British subject, 21 years of age who has resided a year in the province and having an income of $300 a year can register. All who have the interest in the city will see the importance of registering their names. Victoria should not return the lists to Ottawa with many hundred less names on the lists than should be so. It will look bad when the lists are compared with other places.

From Behring Sea.

The American schooner Mollie Adams, Capt. Jacobs, cast anchor in Esquimalt yesterday, she having arrived from Behring sea. She has been in the sea since July the 4th, and after having captured 800 seal was boarded by the Rush, but no skins were found. She afterwards captured more seal, and remained in the northern waters until very late in the season. Neither Capt. Jacobs, or any of the vessel's crew will say just how many seal were caught, but rumor has it that over 7000 were taken. For some reason or other everybody connected with the schooner are very taciturn, consequently particulars of her voyage are meagre.

B. C. and Hongkong.

The report to the harbor master of Hongkong for 1888 discloses many facts of interest to Canadians. The total trade of Hongkong for the year 1888 is represented by 63,967 vessels, measuring 12,996,396 tons, an advance of 174 vessels and 357,702 tons on the average for the previous three years. Amoung the countries with which the decrease of British tonnage is most apparent is Australia, to the extent of 24,178 tons, while Canada (British Columbia) figures among the increases to almost the exact amount of Australia's decrease, viz., 22,173 tons. Canada's increase is due, of course, to the establishment of the direct line of steamers to this province.

Electric Light.

Mr. I. C. Speer, manager of the Nanaimo Telephone Co., has secured the services of Mr. J. H. Galbreath, a noted electrician, who is the owner of quite a number of patents in electric batteries, etc. Messrs. Speer and Galbreath are about to start an electric light company in Nanaimo and they intend to embrace electrical appliances of every description, which they intend to manufacture themselves. At present they have 517 lights ordered, and a great many more in demand. They expect a small dynamo incandescent machine to arrive here on Monday. This light will be on exhibition in this city. It is a 25 light machine and each light is equal to 16 candle power.

Marine Gossip.

The steamer Islander did not bring down the electric cars last night.

It is noticed that the schooner Triumphs flies the same style of house-flag as does the Sapphire.

The steamer Rithet will make but two or three trips more and then lay up for the winter months.

The American ship Valley Forge was towed to Departure Bay to-day, where she will load coal for 'Frisco.

Sealing schooner Mollie Adams, Sol. Jacobs master, arrived at Esquimalt yesterday morning from the Behring sea.

The tug Lorne towed the two barks Leba and Rustede from the outer wharf to Cape Flattery light in seven hours. Pretty quick time this.

Prefers a Palace Car.

Shipping men have been having a joke during the last day or two at the expense of one of our most genial and best known sea captains. The boys say that he agreed to ship as first officer on a lumber vessel bound for San Francisco, but when he went up to Moodyville and saw what kind of a tub she was he refused to go on her. It was only by accident that he found out the kind of vessel he was shipping on. The captain told him the first night he was aboard, to go down and lie in one of the scows and keep the water out. He is a free son of Neptune, but his hair is not oakum yet, so he declined to act as a third there and then packed his "lat" for Victoria again. He says a sealer is wet enough on top in rough weather, but he don't like to look between his feet and see the little fish swimming in the sea. He will go to San Francisco by rail.

From the Orient.

At 10:30 Saturday morning, the Port Augusta, Capt. James Hogg, arrived at Vancouver. At Kobe the Port Augusta experienced a heavy gale, causing her to leave the pier for 24 hours. After leaving Yokohama she experienced strong head winds and high seas for two days. After that there were strong west gales and lowering skies, with heavy beam winds and violent squalls accompanied by hail, sleet and rain up the 20th inst. Thence strong head winds prevailed with continuation of rain and fog at intervals until Victoria was reached, where a pilot was received Oct. 26th at 3:30 a. m. A delay of several hours was occasioned from Victoria owing to fog. The Port Augusta brings a large mail and over 2000 tons of freight, principally silk, opium and tea. The passengers: Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Winchester, from Yokohama to Toronto; Mr. B. Strauss, to Vancouver; Dr. Power to New York; Purser Ermatinger, to Vancouver. In steerage were 10 Japanese and 65 Chinese. Upon arriving in port her rigging was dressed in honor of the visit of Lord Stanley to the city.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

A Resume of Events in the Sporting Arena.

Tom Watson received word on Saturday from Frank Hart, Jerry Taylor and other long distance runners, who have finished a six days race in Tacoma, that they intend coming to Victoria to run a 16 hour race, four hours per day. The trophy will be a purse of $500, and Watson and other local men will train for it. A track will be prepared in the skating rink.

BUSH AND M'LEAN TO ROW.

The following agreement was signed to-day between Bush and McLean for a race on the 15th of November and the first deposit made: We, the undersigned agree to row a race in single scull outrigger skiffs for the sum of one hundred dollars aside, said race to take place in Victoria Harbor between 1 and 4 o'clock p. m., on the 15th November next. London rules to govern the race. McLean to row in the Vancouver boat known as the Pleasure, said boat was used at the exhibition races by McLean and Murray. Bush to row in a lap streak 18 foot outrigger boat which is at present at T. C. Jones' boat house. A deposit of $25 is made when these articles are signed and the remainder, $75 aside shall be deposited on the 14th November. The party failing to deposit the balance of the stake money shall forfeit the first deposit of $25. The said race to be rowed from in front of T. C. Jones' boat house around Deadman's Island and return.

C. BUSH.
ALEXANDER M'LEAN.

McLean published a challenge in Truth a few days ago to Paine, Richardson or Bush which the latter accepted at once. It is thought the race will be a close one.

THE GREAT LACROSSE MATCH.

The championship game for the Alhambra Cup, played at Westminster on Saturday was witnessed by thousands of people. So much interest was excited in Westminster that most of the business places were closed and the city moved out en masse to see the game.

The first game was won by New Westminster in twelve minutes, the second by the same team in two minutes, the third by Vancouver in fifty-four minutes, and at 5:30 the match was declared a draw.

For the home team, who all played a fine game, Lewis, White, Ryall and McBean did good play throughout the whole contest, and the running of McDonald was more like that of a greyhound than a man.

For the Vancouver team Rankin, Quigley and Suckling performed several feats of catching and throwing at full speed that excited ovations of cheering, while Finch, Simpson and McLean played scientific lacrosse from first to finish.

At the beginning of the match the Westminsters showed the stronger front, and the short time in which they captured the two first games seemed to point towards a certainty of victory, but in the third game, which was a stubborn fight for nearly half an hour, the visitors showed such pluck and determination, coupled with a constant succession of brilliant lacrosse feats, that the aspect of the match was somewhat changed. In the last game of nearly two hours' duration much precious time was consumed by disputing, which reflected no credit on either side. At one time there was a general rush for the field, blows were struck and received, and for a few minutes it seemed as if the match, begun under such friendly auspices, would end in bloodshed, but fortunately better nature prevailed, and what would have been a lasting disgrace to both clubs was narrowly averted. In the first game Lewis, of the Westminsters, after a clever catch and run, and a dodge or two without losing the ball, was as cleverly checked by Simpson, of the Vancouvers. Cambridge and Suckling showed several expert counter plays.

The excitement throughout the match was intense, and every brilliant play was greeted with wild bursts of applause.

Mr. E. M. Matthews, of Victoria, was chosen referee, with D.W. Morrow and S. Lowe as umpires.

SATURDAY'S GYMKHANA.

The gymkhana meeting on Saturday, the second of the kind held in Victoria, was a great success. The events went off in good style, and a well pleased crowd was the result. The change number race, for which there were six contestants, was won by Mr. Cecil Ward. The postillion race was captured by Lieut. Warrender. The half-mile run was pulled off by Kirkpatrick, of C Battery. The ball and bucket race was contested for by several crack riders, but Mr. Fisher proved the only one to take the ball. The tandem race was an exciting event, and was won by Mr. Pemberton. Mr. E. B. Drummond distanced all contestants in the side-saddle race, while the hurdle race was won by Dr. Duncan No accidents marred the pleasure of the afternoon, and, from appearances, gymkhanas will be put on the list for future amusements.

HORSE RACE.

At the Driving Park to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the mare "Maud" and the horse "Royal" will run a match race for $1000. Both are fast and a good race is anticipated.

M'LEOD-CAMERON MATCH.

Free Press: Interest is keenly aroused in Victoria over a coming wrestling match between Cameron, the Vancouver giant, an l McLeod, a Nanaimo wrestler of much local repute. The contest takes place in a Victoria hall on November 13th. Mayor Grant and other citizens are interested in the affair, and are on some of the committees of arrangements. The wrestle is for $1,000 a side and is for blood. Both Cameron and McLeod have defeated Schumacher, and their reputations are therefore about on a par; but Cameron has a great advantage in size and weight, and betting is rather in his favor. When the match was arranged Quinn proposed to make it three-cornered—each to put up $1,000, and then the victor in the first contest was to wrestle with Quinn for the total $3,000. The offer was declined. It is not improbable, however, that a match will be arranged between Quinn and Cameron, if the latter defeats McLeod.

WINNIPEG TRAINING SCHOOL.

Winnipeg Free Press: Billy McLean, of the Wmnipegs, the best home player in the Manitoba association, and Harry Finch, the goal keeper of the Ninetieth club, left for the coast yesterday, and next Saturday will wear the Vancouver uniform. Archie Knight, of the Brandons, will join them at Brandon, it is said and thus strengthened, the Vancouvers expect to make mince meat of the rival team. With such home players as Harry McGregor, Billy McLean, Dave Smith, of the Winnipeg senior team of 1887, and Archie Knight, the New Westminster defence will have to strike a lively gait to prevent them from scoring; Stewart Campbell and C. C. Stewart, lately of the Winnipegs are members of the New Westminster team.

Evidently lacrosse is just a humming out by the Pacific; and if this sort of thing goes on the Winnipeg clubs will simply resolve themselves into training schools for players for the British Columbia clubs.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

Grounding of the Icarus.

The investigation into the cause of the grounding of H. M. S. Icarus, when returning to Esquimalt from New Westminster, resulted in the honorable acquittal of the officers of the man-of-war. The accident was shown to have been unavoidable.

THE ARCH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The arch to be erected at the corner of Government and Yates streets was started to-day. The design is a handsome one, and when finished it will be admired by the Governor-General and party for the space of two minutes. Expensive arches, on occasions of this kind, give a very poor return for the money invested. The same time and cash expended in simple ornamentation would give better results and be more satisfactory to all concerned. An elaborate arch is not as good an evidence of the loyalty of the subjects as the impromptu shouts of the populace, or even a general display of bannerets along the line of march.

Hon. T. B. Humphreys did not leave for California on Saturday last, owing to feeling too unwell to make the trip at the time.

Col. Robt. Stevens, U. S. Consul, left on the steamer Olympian this morning for a visit to Seattle. He will return Wednesday.

H. V. Burner, travelling agent of the O. R. & N. and N. P. Companies, is in the city. Mr. Burner goes to the Sound to-morrow and returns in a day or two.

Mons. Redon and Mrs. Redon returned last evening from their extended visit to Paris. They are looking extremely well and are glad to be among their friends once more.

Messrs. McBean, McDonald, Fitch and McLean, the "imports" from Winnipeg, in the late lacrosse match, arrived down from Vancouver last evening. They will leave for home to-night.

D. W. Morrow and Skene Lowe returned from Westminster last evening, whither they went to see the championship lacrosse match. Both gentlemen umpired the game satisfactorily to all parties.

Hon. J. W. Fairbank returned by the Olympian Saturday evening from a three weeks' trip to Portland, where he was the guest of Hon. Ethan W. Allen, Superintendent of the Mechanics' Fair. Both these gentlemen have been largely identified with such enterprises and each of them were commissioners from their respective States to the great New Orleans exposition a few years ago.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Hon. A. N. Richards, Q. C.)

The prisoners' dock at the police court this morning was full, and so had been many of the prisoners, four of them being fined $5 and costs for that peculiar failing o fmunnniy. Three of the quartette were provided with the necessary V, but one being impecunious he was sent up for one month.

John Lee was charged with stealing two pair of blankets from Gilmore & McCandless' store. Lee, in a contrite manner, pleaded guilty, stating that he was drunk at the time.

His honor was of the opinion that the theft had been committed in order to get winter quarters, and sent the prisoner up for six months.

The case against A. Stronach, for infraction of the building by-law, was withdrawn on payment of costs.

John Nugent, who failed to appear on Friday, when summoned on a charge of vagrancy, was the next to face his honor.

When asked if he liked it in jail, he replied that he did not. His honor then remarked that his chances were good of getting back there again unless his ways were mended. Nugent has only been out of jail for three weeks. Not caring to send him back again his honor gave him three days to leave town, with the warning that unless he left six months in jail would be the result.

James Barry, on remand, for obtaining goods under false pretences, was further remanded until Wednesday.

James McCartney was charged with assault on a Chinaman. It appeared that James having imbibed a considerable quantity of whiskey yesterday had conceived it his sole mission in life to clean out Chinatown, and one Kim was the first Mongolian tackled. Chief Sheppard happening along the riotous James was soon landed in the city bastile. This morning James was very penitent, and promised never to do so any more, and that if he was let off he would go home to the United States. James, by the way, is a typical hoodlum, about 15 years of age, and with the rat-like face of the gutter tough. The assaulted Chinaman and another resident of the rue Fisgard street, gave evidence of a damaging character to the reputation of James as a law-abiding citizen.

His Honor imposed a fine of $10, but prisoner remarking that he hadn't ten cents, was sent up for a month.

The Address.

The address to be presented to His Excellency the Governor-General on arrival here, is being beautifully engrossed by Mr. Tiedemann, of James Bay.

Getting Along.

Work is going on steadily at the power house of the electric tramway. The boilers are both in position and the smoke-stack up. The concrete bed for the engine is now in course of construction, and in two or three weeks more all will be ready to turn steam on.

The Visit to Nanaimo.

It is not yet known whether the Governor-General will visit Nanaimo or not. His Excellency has telegraphed as follows: "His Excellency is most anxious to visit Nanaimo if business at Ottawa does not shorten his stay at Victoria. Will wire you definitely at earliest possible opportunity."

A Lake Steamer.

Captain Wardroper, who has a ranch on the shores of Cowichan Lake, about three miles from the township, is having a little steamer built at Spratt & Gray's for his private use. The boat will take the place of a carriage and horses, and will be used to visit town, etc. She will be very fast, as engines of considerable power will be placed in her.

Fell Among Thieves.

Nightwatchman Whitehead, at the Albion Iron Works, fell among thieves on Saturday night and was badly beaten. His face was severely cut in several places, necessitating stitching by Dr. Morrison, and his pockets were rifled of a watch and all the money they contained. His assailants were two men who followed him from an hotel in the city.

No Bother to Court Officers.

If the noble red man has one good quality more than another it is the ready way in which he admits guilt when charged in the court with drunkenness. No trouble is caused by a contradiction of the charge, but with stolid indifference he enunciates the one word "nowitka" when asked if guilty or not guilty. The fines in cases of drunkenness are nine times out of ten also paid promptly.

That Pheasant Case.

J. W. Perry, a farmer of Gordon Head, appeared in the provincial court this morning to answer to a charge of having a cock pheasant in his possession. The information was laid by special officer Berrow, and the charge having been proven, Robt. Ward, J. P., before whom the case was tried, imposed a fine of $25. Mr. Perry considers it a strange law that does not allow him to kill pheasants on his premises.
